FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. — A log cabin donated by a South Carolina company will become a new shelter for homeless female veterans in Fayetteville.

Blue Ridge Log Cabins of Campobello, S.C., announced Thursday the home it donated to the ABC show "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" will be used by the Jubilee House.

Fifteen-year Navy veteran Barbara Summey Marshall founded the charity, which provides shelter and help to homeless female veterans.

Jubilee House currently uses a decrepit two-bedroom home. Blue Ridge Log Cabins will provide and build them a much bigger house, using the "Extreme Makeover" crew.
