"Lights, Camera, Action!"

First Lady Michelle Obama will be making her network reality television debut this fall when she appears on ABC's Extreme Makeover: Home Edition as part of the "Joining Forces" initiative that she and Dr. Jill Biden co-founded this year.

The outreach program is aimed to "give our service members and their families the opportunities and support and they have earned."

Obama will tape her appearance on Thursday when she travels to Fayetteville, North Carolina to help improve a community resource center for homeless female veterans located just outside Fort Bragg. She will work beside volunteers on the construction of a new greenhouse and children's play area at the center, the Steps-N-Stages Jubilee House.

She is also expected to participate in a special project to honor the center's founder, Barbara Marshall, a 15-year Navy veteran, George Verschoor, executive producer of Extreme Makeover, said.

See a typical day in the First Ladies' lives

Mrs. Obama isn't the first presidential wife to appear on "Extreme Makeover." In the wake of Hurricane Katrina, former First Lady Laura Bush helped rebuild a family's home in Biloxi, Mississippi in 2005.

Michelle Obama's appearance on Extreme Makeover: Home Edition will air in October.
